Welcome to Outduction

Outduction is a collaborative project between Kingston University London and University of Bradford. It is funded by the HE Academy's National Teaching Fellowship Scheme and aims to improve our understanding of the experience of students in their final year of undergraduate study. It will address the issues of student autonomy in study and also the preparation of students to engage with conceptual life planning. It suggests that the notion of 'transfer' and transitions is helpful to examining how finalists experience their last year at university.

The project will initiate a number of research-informed development projects within four faculties/schools across the two institutions. Each will address aspects of the final year experience. This intra and inter-institutional activity will be complemented by the development of case studies gathered from across the sector. It will engage directly with students from both institutions as well as alumni and employers. A key feature of the project will be the establishment of "student internships" to conduct some of the investigations. This role in itself will be scrutinised and evaluated.

Two "Outer Circles" will be established to disseminate findings and examples of good practice and also to support the project in developing ideas for further research and evaluation. There will also be opportunities for national and international dissemination.

JOHN HENDEN

Course: Graduate Diploma Architecture

Year of Qualification: 2010

Employment Status: unemployed

Website Email

About John

Experience within the architectural industry has included time in London, Manchester and Edinburgh in different sized offices and has spanned many sectors including health, commercial, interiors and residential at a variety of scales and budgets across several RIBA stages. In this time I have developed a personal interest in retrofitting existing structures, which led me to write my final dissertation entitled "Responsibly Retrofitting" which discussed the current condition of the existing housing stock of the UK and what improvements could be made to comply with energy efficiency targets in 2050.

Posted by Joanna Bailey on 18th June 2011, Job Opportunities

Alan Camp Architects, based on Union Street, London SE1 are looking for a Part 1 year out student with good design skills, presentation skills, Autocad and Sketchup.

This would be a great opportunity for an Architecture graduate. If you are interested please see their website www.alancamp.com and send a CV with examples of your work to recruitment@alancamp.com

Three month funded internship in Andalusia, Spain for an architecture student who has just completed their degree or diploma

Posted by Joanna Bailey on 18th June 2011, Job Opportunities

Renaisi has recently obtained EU Lifelong Learning Programme funding, which will provide three Kingston architecture graduates with a 13 week fully funded internship in Andalusia, Spain, working within the vocational area of Environmental Sustainability.

For further information on this exciting opportunity see:
http://www.kingston.ac.uk/sustainability/forstudents\_internships.html

In order to qualify you must be under 30 years of age. You must just have completed your architecture degree or diploma. Spanish language skills are not essential.

If you would like to apply please send a CV and covering letter, describing why you would like to be considered for one of the 'architecture' internship, to Dr Katherine Eames, email: k.eames@kingston.ac.uk before 4th July 2011. For further information, or to discuss the internships, please also contact Katherine Eames.

Interviews will be conducted by Renaisi in mid July and the internships will start in September 2011.
